Dear Colleagues,

The Amsterdam Business Research Institute is delighted to introduce the updated design of the weekly ABRI WE newsletter. We hope that you will appreciate this new layout, and that the items covered in the newsletter will be a source of inspiration and innovative ideas.

The ABRI WE newsletter will keep you informed about the great achievements of faculty staff across the business research tracks, upcoming events, new developments and other news related to the ABRI research community.

In case you have any news to share, please feel welcome to submit your news item to Hans Quené at info.abri@vu.nl. Any news related to personal and departmental accomplishments (e.g. prizes, awards and grants), notices about events, new staff members and publications are welcome.

NEWS

They each only have 1.5 years to go in their projects so they each presented a paper based on empirical work, which was reviewed by our research fellows — two per paper. This created relevant discussions and the constructive input will be used to further develop the papers. With their supervisory team the PhD candidates will work on career planning too. This year’s PhD Day also featured a workshop on fast reading techniques and a presentation by FEWEB’s Ina Putter about the new regulations and other changes for PhDs, which were both highly in demand, based on the high attendance. In total 56 people registered for the day this year, so it looks like we are actively growing and strengthening our ABRI community! We would like take
