2016 WEEK 19

UPCOMING EVENTS

Inaugural Lecture Johan Wempe - 13 May
Prof.dr. J.F.D.B. Wempe will give his inaugural lecture titled "De moedige onderneming. De contouren van een prospectieve ethiek" on 13 May at 15:45 in the Aula.

Moral issues are at the core of the major issues of our time. This applies to the climate problem, the crisis in the financial system, the refugee issue, cross-border terrorism and for example the problem of obesity. Ethical theories fail to understand as such the moral core of these issues and to bring us a little closer to a solution based on such moral concepts. In his public lecture Johan Wempe looks at how we can develop a forward-looking, prospective ethics, which provides insight into the moral core of these issues and can help with solutions for the future.

Farewell Lecture Anton Cozijnsen - 19 May
Prof.dr. A.J. Cozijnsen will give his farewell lecture titled "Het verandertheater" on 19 May at 15:45 in the Aula.

Cozijnsen shows that healthcare, housing associations and the police organization have a too small capacity for change. He points out that much of what is known is not being used, for example findings in psychology. Many managers rely on the next popular management model or bestseller instead. Cozijnsen demonstrates this in a metaphorical change theater.

Paper Brian Tjemkes and Martijn van der Kamp selected AoM best conference proceedings
The paper “Make or break alliances: A process model of faultline contagion and alliance instability”, written by Brian Tjemkes and Martijn van der Kamp (University of Melbourne) has been selected for the Academy of Management 2016 best conference proceedings.

The paper has also been awarded the “Conflict in Context Award” by the Conflict Management Division.

The Best Conflict-in-Context Paper Award recognizes the most outstanding field-based paper studying organizational, political, or social conflict that was submitted to the Conflict Management Division for that year’s Academy of Management Annual Meeting. This award is determined by the program chair based on reviewer ratings and comments. The award is sponsored by Emerald Publishing and the International Journal of Conflict Management.

Wouter Stam and Joris Ebbers (UvA) receive grant from NWO
Wouter Stam and Joris Ebbers received the KIEM grant in order to research Multiplex networks in creative industries incubators and firm performance.

Establishment in an incubator allows start-ups to quickly build a relevant network. Understanding the exact benefits of different types and combinations of networks enables owners of establishments of business incubators to create a valuable ecosystem for entrepreneurs that are located there. The research will take place in collaboration with B. Amsterdam and the
The Creative industry - KIEM programme aims to encourage and facilitate public-private partnerships in the domain of the Creative industries. KIEM aims to promote and facilitate partnerships between knowledge institutions and private parties, including small and medium enterprises (SMEs). KIEM enables consortia (consisting of at least one researcher employed at a Dutch University and at least one private partner) to develop sustainable partnerships. KIEM funding can also be used to further articulate and help answer questions put forward by private parties.
