NEWS WEEK 23

Celebrate your success...
Four Junior Researchers (Nick Oostervink, Susan Hilbolling, Nienke Hofstra and Katie Stephenson) received their JR diploma last week. They all went through the ‘ordeal’ of presenting their work before a panel that could ask them questions and make suggestions to improve their first paper. During the JR trajectory that started last October, they delivered this paper and a research proposal, and they successfully completed several courses within and outside ABRI covering for at least 30 ECTs. Many of them also had teaching obligations for their specific research departments. Thanks for the panel members Omar Solinger, Femke van Horen, Brian Spisak, Mohammad Rezazade, Amanda Porter, and Liselore Havermans, and congratulations to all Junior Researchers, including Luisa Jakubowski. All four graduates will continue as a PhD at ABRI-FEWEB.

Joep Cornelissen will join editorial team AMR
From the 1st of July, Joep Cornelissen will join the incoming editorial team of the Academy of Management Review (AMR). AMR is ranked among the top five most influential and frequently cited management and business journals. AMR is a theory development journal that publishes the highest quality conceptual work in the field.
Joep Cornelissen part of a plenary session at EGOS 2014
Joep Cornelissen will be part of a plenary session at EGOS 2014 in Rotterdam, the largest gathering of organization and management researchers in Europe. Together with Theo van Leeuwen and Eero Vaara, he will address the role of multimodality in discourse and language, and the potential that this offers for the field of management and organization studies. See also the EGOS website.

ETDW: Workshop: June 27 and 28: Michael Lounsbury, David Seidl and others
The 3rd European Theory Development Workshop will be held on the 27th and 28th of June at VU University, Amsterdam. The workshop is an initiative of a number of leading European business schools and provides European researchers with an opportunity to present and share papers with the editors of the leading theory journals in the field including the Academy of Management Review, Organization Science, Journal of Management Studies and Organization Studies. The overall purpose of the workshop is developmental, with editors and experienced senior colleagues providing feedback and helping to get papers a step closer to publication. More than 60 of the leading researchers in business and management will be on campus for those two days, including the two keynote speakers for this year’s event: Michael Lounsbury (University of Alberta) and David Seidl (University of Zurich). They will work hard during the day, but will enjoy the picturesque scenery and urban cool of Amsterdam during a social event on the Friday evening.
