NEWS
FEWEB’s AACSB eligibility application has been accepted by the AACSB
The AACSB has accepted FEWEB’s AACSB eligibility for accreditation. The AACSB is in essence a quality assurance model. It systematically measures the way learning objectives are achieved. Quality is not so much defined by remarks by application. This means that FEWEB now has officially entered the accreditation process. The hard work and preparation of the faculty steering committee* has been successful.

As a next step, a mentor is being selected to advice FEWEB during the process; a first visit is planned this autumn. For FEWEB’s future, its staff and its students, it is vital that they obtain an international accreditation. Their reputation should reflect their quality, both here and abroad, and not lag behind. The AACSB accreditation is one of the means to achieve this.

The entire procedure should be concluded during 2019-2020 with a successful accreditation.
